"Totally classic Barossa, a mix of North and Western subregions, a range of microclimates that deliver big, rich fruit. The resulting juices also offer attractive aromatic lift above the obvious impressions of traditional oak maturation, which impacts the start but still allows that fruit to keep powering through. Plump generous, steady Barossa shiraz that hangs your senses and leaves you without any doubts about where you've been".

"Lovers of full-bodied red wine will be astounded by the quality of this wine, considering its affordable price. Full-bodied and chocolately, with plums and blackberry fruit, it is undoubtedly richly-flavoured, however, there is also an appealing liveliness and freshness to the palate. Subtle crushed herbs filter through the wine though sit in harmony with the fruit, adding complexity and interest. Great value"
